WASHINGTON, D. C., SEPT. 25, 1885

MINISTER JACKSON'S CASE. One of the President's appointment which, it is said, will be opposed by Republican Senators in case the factious programme considered last spring is carried out, will be that of General Jackson, the Minister to Mexico. It is held in his case, as it was in that of General Lawton, that having been debarred from bolding of fice by the Constitution, he can only become eligible by act of Congress, removing his disabilities, as provided for in the constitutional amendment referred to.

The Attorney-General rendered an opinion in the case of General Jackson that a previous pardon by President Johnson was sufficient.

It is doubtful, however, if a majority of the Senate can be induced to antagon ize the Administration on a technical point of this character, in face of a decision by the chief law officer of the Government and for the mere sake of rejecting a nomination which, as far as character and qualifications are conconcerned, is admitted to be one of the most meritorious appointments which Mr. Cleveland has made.

In this instance there was no viola tion of the principles of civil-service reform, and no question of offensive partisanship was raised. The more magnanimous course for the Senate to pursue would be to join with the House in passing a bill immediately upon the meeting of Congress for the removal of the disabilities of both General Jackson and General Lawton, and thus set ting all controversy upon the subject

THEY WANT THE EARTH.

It is held by some people that the President regards it as his mission to place the civil-service upon a basis in which the spoils system shall have no part. He is certainly doing all that he can to that end, and his efforts are receiving a support that is creditable to the party which was victorious at the last Presidential election. Mr. Cleveland's letter to Mr. Eaton very forcibly and clearly shows, if any such thing were needed, that he wants a clean and honest administration of governmental affairs in every detail. The most zealous civil-service reformer can surely find no fault with that document.

But doesn't it look as if our Republican friends were beginning to presume a little too much, especially since that letter was made public?

By force of habit they had reached the belief that the offices were their personal property. They, of course, expected that there would be a pretty general change after Mr. Cleveland was inaugurated, and when such was not the case, at least to a sweeping extent, they were most agreeably disappointed; and have ever since been getting bolder and bolder until now they even at-. tempt to dictate how the Federal pa-trenage shall be dispensed. They have gone so far that they not only claim that no Republican shall be removed, but even demand the removal of Democrats whom the President has seen fit to appoint. This condition of affairs would be ludicrous. were it not looked upon so seriously by the Democrats.

There is no telling how far the Republicans will go in this matter, but they might at least allow the Democrats to discuss the offices without getting so very mad about it, besides they might reflect that President Cleveland dees not really, as they seem to think, object to appointing a man to an ofticial position simply because he is a Democrat. The Republicans at any rate should give the Democrats an oc casional chance to feed at the crib. where the grand old party has been for so many years growing fat and saucy.

THE CHICAGO STYLE.

When anything of a public nature is attempted in Chicago it is put through with a rush, and in this respect the city on Lake Michigan sets all other elties of America an example well worthy of imitation. The Chicago way is to strike while the iron is hot. For instance, when it was proposed to raise money for the Grant monument the money was raised before the remains had been laid away at Riverside Park. The Chicagoans have enough money in hand to erect a magnificent testimonial, and the beauty about the whole proceeding is that the subscriptions came in within a day, showing that the people up that way not only revered the memory of General Grant, but that they had a pride in their city in that they showed the world how they do things in Chicago. The Grant monument fund in New York and St. Louis is dragging along, and as the enthusiasm has somewhat died out it does not seem possible to raise the necessary amount unless the wealthy go promptly and unbegrudgingly down into their peckets.

This has been a bad year for the circus as far as the elements and accidents are concerned. O'Brien's circus which was the first on the road, came in contact with a partially developed cyclone in Philadelphia and succeeded in manufacturing a good deal of debris. Forepaugh's circus sustained a loss of several bundreds yards of canvass one breezy day in June last while edifying the open-mouthed people of St. Louis.

WASHINGTON CRITIC The other day Barnum and two nations sustained a dire disaster in the lost of poor old Jumbo. Buffato Bill and his tame cowboys and antiquated coach were collided with in the muddy Miscissippi and came near going to the bottom. In Martinsharg night before last. Robbins' circus tents, were swept away by a robust zephyr amid the roars of man and beast. And the Georgia papers inform us that the tent of the Rev. Sam Jones, who is holding a camp meeting near Cartersville in that State was blown down the other night. The Talmage and St. John's circuses appear to be the only ones that have gone unscathed of storm or accident.

> Nonony can say that they are not getting right down to campaign work in New York. Mr. Charles F. Ulrich, the Republican candidate for State treasurer, is a very popular gentleman and was a gallant officer in the late war, but a grievous defect in his record has been discovered. It appears that he accepted an annual pass from the New York Central Railroad, and while riding on it a couple of years ago was severely injured in an accident. The fact that he was riding free did not deter him from entering suit against the road and recovering $1,000 damages We do not think that this will injure him much in the campaign. On the contrary, it shows a good deal of shrewdness on the part of Mr. Ulrich in being able to secure a pass from the Central Road, and more shrewdness in securing damages.

THE New York World figures that ecording to the record since 1860, with the exception of the Greelev flasco, the party which carried that State at the Presidential election has always carried it for Governor the following year. The New York Republicans have nominated for Governor a man who has a big "barrel," and if the list of candidates in the past is looked over it will be noticed that New York suberna. torial candidates with but few exceptions have had plenty of money to spend in the campaign. The Empire State can always furnish statesmen who think that they are on the straight road to the White House if they can only succeed in getting into the Governor's chair at Albany.

TEN MILLION, four hundred thousand silver dollars, accompanied by the sloops of-war Swatara and Yantic, will arrive at the Navy-Yard to night or to-morrow morning. If there have been fears that Commanders Gilbert C. Wiltse and Frank Wildes would turn pirates. and go east-maybe to the Caroline Islands—those fears are dispelled by the fact that both vessels are now in the Potomac, and further, that "Gil." Wiltse has a wife and babies up in Georgetown whom he wouldn't take his cargo for,

SIR RICHARD SUTTON, the owner of the Genesta, sails for home to-morrow. Of course we are glad he doesn't take the Queen's cup back with him, but we are also glad to have made the acquaintance of so gallant a gentleman. People in this country think a good deal more of Englishmen generally than they did before he came over Sir Richard ought to become a naturalized American.

THE matter of the arbitration be tween Germany and Spain in the dispute over the Caroline Islands seems to be a beautifully arranged affair. The cable tells us that the Pope will se the arbitrator, but adds that his decision will not be binding upon either party to the dispute. It is difficult to discern with clearness what is the use of such arbitration.

Ir begins to look as though Ohio would be carried for Hoadly again this fall. The contest in New York is to be close and breezy one with the chances n favor of Hill. Penusylvania is conceded to the Republicans, and as they are claiming Maryland also, which is one of their old habits, they can take that State too-until after the election

Ir Philadelphia was not so overwhelmingly Republican there would be something surprising in the fact that the Democrats there cannot find any one willing to run for sheriff or city treasurer on their ticket.

It is easy enough to find men who will tell you that they have had the ear of the Administration, but precious few remember having been introduced to the Administration's toe.

A New Use for the Maps. Managing Editor-"Simkins, I suppose you saved all the cuts of the Genesta-Puri tan boat race?" Simkins-"Yes, sir; they are all boxed up

"Well, don't let them be destroyed; we may be able to use them again."
"Why, will the race be run again over "O no, but we shall probably have a ance to use them as Roumelian war aps."—[Pittsburg Chronicle.

ROLL CALL.

"Corporal Green!" the orderly cried."
"Here!" was the answer, foud and clear.
From the lips of a soldier who stood near.
And "Here!" was the word the next replied. "Cyrus Drew"—then a silence fell— This time no answer followed the call. Only his rear man had seen him fall, killed or wounded he could not tell.

There they stood in the falling light.
These men of battle, with grave, dark looks,
As plain to be read as open books.
White closely gathered the shades of night.

The fern on the hillside was splashed with And down in the corn, where the popples Were redder stains than the poppies knew; And crimson-dyed was the river's flood.

For the foe had crossed, from the other side, That day it the face of a murderous fire, That swept them down in its terrible ire; And their life blood went to color the tide. "Herbert Kline!" At the call there came Two stalwart soldiers into the line, Bearing between them this Herbert Kline, "Counded and bleeding to answer his name."

"Ernt Korr"—and a voice answered "Here!"
"Hiram Kerr"—but no man replied.
They were brothers, these two; the said winds sighed. And a shudder crept through the cornfield

"Ephrafur Deane" - then a soldier spoke; "Deane carried our regiment's colors," he said:
"Where our easign was shot I left him dead,
Just after the enemy waveres and broke. "Close to the roadside his body lies, I paused a moment and gave him to drin's, He murmured his mother's name I think, And Death came with it and closed his eyes.

"I was a victory; res, but it cost as dear.
For that company's roll, when called at night.
Of a hundred men who went into the fight
Numbered but twenty that answered "Heres"

The Sunday Opening Question. EDITOR CRITIC: In your editorial yester ay, referring to the opening of our various raries, museums, and other institutions of milar character on Sunday, you speak of e Corcoran Art Gallery as one of the places which so many people scarcely ever have the opportunity to see, except upor the outside. This is too true, but I was recently informed that Mr. Corcoran has signified to the trustees of the gallery, bearing his name, his entire willingness that it be opened to the public on Sunday afternoons. This is in accordance with the broad and philanthropic spirit he has shown through life. He desires that the noble collection, which is trusteen. iffe. He desires that the noble collection, which is to stand as a perennial monument of his generosity, shall embrace the largest possible sphere of usefulness, and its blessings and benefits be denied to none. It is to be hoped that the same liberal policy will be found in Congress, with regard to the Smithsonian, the Zoological Gardens, the Libraries, &c.

After the door was closed Mrs. Hopkins said she wished the mean old thing would catch her death of cold.—[Chicago News.

On Both Sides.

"Was your room on the port or the star-oard side of the vessely" asked an old rayeler of a new one who had just re turned from his first trip to Europe.
